March to the beat of a different drummer

Based on the Lincoln Center Aesthetic Education Model

The design and content of the DeltaARTS Educator Workshop offers educators an opportunity to gain skills in implementing the Lincoln Center aesthetic education inquiry-based approach to teaching and learning.

This research-based approach is initially rooted in the study of works of art and employs four main concepts: art-making, questioning, reflection, and contextual research. Educators have the opportunity to unlock their own imaginative learning, while engaging with works of art with master aesthetic education teaching artists.

This participatory experience will inspire teachers to stimulate creative conceptual thinkers prepared for the world beyond the classroom. DeltaARTS Educator Workshop aligns with Arkansas Department of Education Professional Development Criteria.

Participants in the workshop will:

- View and study the selected performance and visual art focus works
- Participate in aesthetic education activities that focus on the performance and exhibit, the LCAE philosophy, the Capacities for Imaginative Learning, and Core Curriculum Connections.
- Explore and discuss the writings of Dr. Maxine Green, Howard Gardner, and John Dewey.
- Design Aesthetic Education activities to use in their classrooms
